Their supply lines between north and south Burma were in danger of being cut.

DESTROY JAP FIGHTERS

In preparation for the invasion, bombers and fighters from an American air base in India landed at Japanese supply lines and troop concentrations and in one quick stroke destroyed one of the enemy's air strength in Burma.

As soon as they landed in Burma, British assault troops leaped from the gliders and landed in the positions around the valley.

American engineers unloaded machinery from the gliders and began making an air strip for the transports which were to bring in the fighting force. Some 24 hours later, the airfield was completed, and the first transport landed with troops and mules.

A huge generator built into one of the gliders furnished electricity for lighting lights along the strip. For two hours the transport landed and took off from the field at the rate of one every 45 seconds.

Even while the transports were bringing reinforcements into the first field a second glider assault landed in the valley, about 10 miles farther south and established a second air strip and stronghold.

ALBERTA'S Liquor Situation

The Alberta Liquor Control Board is faced today with the cold mathematics of trying to supply more than double the number of permit holders with heavily curtailed quotas. Greater demand rather than reduced supply is mainly responsible for the situation.

The Alberta Liquor Control Board purchased in 1942 base year, 242,611 gallons; actual sales in 1942-215,111 gallons. From these figures it is seen that the liquor purchases was in excess of sales by 27,500 gallons, which went into stock. In 1943, the Alberta quota for liquor was 169,827 gallons (70 per cent of 1942 purchases). Of this amount,</

Air Cadets Take Classes Indoors

By Jack Day

All through the winter, the air cadets have been falling in at the Normal School in the U.S., taking all their classes indoors. This week with the weather clearing up, the cadets went out with the scent of spring in the air, it was decided to go back to the summer schedule. When the squadron is on summer schedule, it falls in on the drill hall and marches the six blocks to the school for classes every night.

Monday night, the cadets began to parade according to the summer schedule, but unfortunately the weather was still very much on winter schedule. Result: several cases of half-frozen fingers, nose, and ears.

Threw out at last, the senior cadets were given an examination in navigation, which consisted mainly of the solution of a complex problem. The cadets had to work out the estimated time of arrival at a certain point of an aircraft flying a triangular course, taking account of drift and all the other factors that a bomber navigator has to contend with.

Last week the senior cadets were given an examination in map recognition, concluding their study of that subject. The test formerly devoted to it will be used for practice and instruction in flight and squadron drill.

McCauley School Assists Red Cross

During a penny drive held at McCauley Intermediate school, $42.12 was collected and donated to the Canadian Red Cross. For the third consecutive year, the McCauley boys' hockey team has won the senior championship trophy. After losing the first game to Queen Alex, the Hurricanes returned back to win all of the remaining six games.

Led by Bob Manson, the Hurricanes played sensationally throughout the season, with an all-star team, consisting of Vern Gillman, "Larry" Lowe, "Lefty" Grabow, Jack Singleton, and John Mundy.

Hi-School Hi-Lights

ST. JOSEPH'S

By Henry Yamauchi

On the afternoon of Friday, March 10, the boys of St. Joseph's were guests at a very entertaining "Hi-Lit" party at the home of the "Jassies" of St. Mary's High. The afternoon program was opened by group singing of "Why Do You Love Me" and "Pistol Packin' Mama". The violin solo, accompanied by Miss Perry on the piano. This was followed by Denise Sweeney playing "Begin the Beguine".

Louise McLaughlin, master of ceremonies of the "Hi-Lit", most introduced Angela Brauli, who sang "Angels Guard Thee". The audience clapped and cheered, and demanded an encore. Angela requested and sang My Hero. Miss Brauli was accompanied by Marjorie Kruk on the violin, and Lucille Cole on the piano.

The Dramatics II class, under the direction of the Rev. Mother Bernardine, presented a one-act comedy, Archibald, starring Norma Lank and Alice Robitaille. She was supported by Maxine Brum, Phyllis Morey, Marguerite Pomeroy, Mona Wright, Vera Chisholm, and Podgorny and Jean Keefe.

The audience was delighted with the wit and humor throughout. The singing of God Save the King was a highlight of the evening.

The boys enjoyed the afternoon, and hope, in their turn, to entertain St. Mary's in the near future.

VARSITY

By Jeanne Gould

With pockets jingling with their own money, students of Varsity High flocked to the Chicken Coop, Monday, to a jamboree of the Red Cross. An admission fee of 10 cents having been extracted from each person, the cavalcade of fun, dancing, and contests got underway. In charge of arrangements were Bill Corbett, Pat Howe, and Bill Brown, and the latter, as master of ceremonies, kept the entertainment rolling. Of the many contests, perhaps the most unusual was the baby picture contest, in which Donna Clark and Eddie Lewis were chosen as having been the most beautiful babies.

Highlight of the event was the auctioning of a War Star, students vs. staff. When the quarters, chairs, and car-clocks had been counted, it was found that over $20 had been donated. The staff, making a grand total of more than $40 raised for just one War Star. The stamp will be framed and hung in the hall beside last year's.

Through the effort of less than 100 students $64.90 was donated to the Red Cross.

SAINT MARY'S

By Nora McGannon

Roars of laughter filled the auditorium last Friday afternoon at our "Hi-Lit" which included violin solos, piano solo and songs followed by a hilarious comedy "Archibald" put on by the Second Year Dramatics. Our guests, the teachers and boys of Saint Joseph's High School proved to be a most appreciative audience. We hope that in the near future when the boys put on a "Hi-Lit" we can entertain us that we shall have as good a time. All girls have ordered their school pins and rings, and are waiting impatiently for them to be made.

MCDUGALL

By Vera Taraschuk

A combined fashion and talent "Hi-Lit" was held at Commercial last Friday. The first part of the program included some of the finest talent in the school. Gordon Zarick received an ovation for his violin solo, while Jeanette Wilechinski was warmly applauded for her piano playing. Other talented performers were: Nan Brown, tap dancer; Helma Nucka, acrobatic solo; Lorraine MacDonald, vocal solo; and Edith McCready, piano solo. "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Jeanette Florio, was the outstanding feature of the program.

A riotous fashion display, put on by the boys in the school, was the second item in the program. Miss Graduation, one of the models, introduced and commented on the others: Miss Conservation, Miss Application, Miss Volunteering, perfect secretary, perfect housewife, kimono girl, bathing beauty, and sweater girl. Allured in colorful clothes, the models displayed the current and future styles.

On Friday, St. Patrick's Day, many of the boys wore a variety of shades, ranging from Paddy to olive green. The girls' basketball team lost to Westgate, 26-17, in a game held on Wednesday. The Commercial team were defeated by Hagerman, Bella Bial, Betty Hagerman, Mary Tennyson, Helen Campbell, Ellen Schuster, Gienia Weaver, Jack Cameron and Edna Clark. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clark and Miss Marion Gimby were patrons at the dance.

Music to the dancing was supplied by Don Graves' orchestra.

Birds Enjoy Homes If Properly Built

Officials report increasing interest in the Kwanan bird house contest.

Several varieties of birds will nest in houses built for them if the houses are of the right shape and dimensions. There are other birds in Alberta which are very glad to have nests and but which do not build nests and rear their young in manufactured boxes or houses. We are mainly interested in the first group which have selected cavities in trees or nooks in out-croch way places.

One of the most interesting of the birds which visits us in the summer, is the bluebird. This interesting little fellow with his almost sky blue back and brown breast as if he belonged to two domains, the sky and the ground, is a most welcome visitor. Happy may the boy or girl be who has a family of this species nesting in a bird house in the garden. To help the parents fill to and fro, to hear them sing, to note the food they bring, to watch their struggle in dropping off the other bird enemies, which thanks to the ingenuity of manorock designs were put up, which were skillfully made by Irma Rolf and Don Bluff. Those on the committee for the arrangements of the dance were: Betty Hagerman, Mary Tennyson, Helen Campbell, Ellen Schuster, Gienia Weaver, Jack Cameron and Edna Clark. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Clark and Miss Marion Gimby were patrons at the dance.

War Services Centre Opens On Jasper West

The War Services Council of Northern Alberta announces the opening of its new War Services Centre at 10639 Jasper avenue, just west of the Corona hotel. The Citizens' Volunteer Bureau (Women's Voluntary Services) is also removed from the first floor of the Gas Company's office and is now established in the Centre. The telephone number of the Volunteer Bureau remains unchanged.

"The setting up of the new War Services Centre," said Harold L. Veit, chairman of the War Services Council, "will tend to expedite the work of co-ordinating all phases of voluntary war work in this community."

"In the new office we bring together the executive machinery, not only of the Citizens' Volunteer Bureau, but of the many committees and affiliates of the council, such as the entertainment board, the hostel and recreation committee, the war charities' committee, the rehabilitation section, the service women's section, sports committee, dependent's welfare, mental auxiliaries, public relations and, when Ottawa makes up its mind about the continuance of salvage, the salvage section."

"The Council of Jewish Women also has its magazine distribution department on the premises."

"Both the Volunteer Bureau and the War Services Council," said Mr. Veit, "are exceedingly grateful to the Gas Company for providing accommodation for the bureau since its organization two years ago. The Gas Company not only gave the floor space free, but supplied a great deal of the equipment and extended many kindnesses to the staff of the bureau."

The executive offices are at the front of the new centre. The basement contains the board room.

Executive secretary of the War Services Council and the War Services Centre is Mrs. Florence M. Andrews. Director of the Volunteer Bureau is Mrs. Elizabeth Hagelstein.

Communications to the Citizens' Volunteer Bureau, Mr. Veit pointed out, should be directed to Mrs. Hagelstein at the new address.

Air Power

Cost of Battle In Air

By Maj. A. P. de Seversku

Do Americans as a whole realize the magnitude and the heavy cost of the battle of the air now being fought over Europe?

Airmen who have taken part in the battle, the writer is in a position to report, think that the answer is in the negative. Pilots fresh from the front declare that people at home have no real understanding of how difficult the job being done really is, and what a stiff price we are paying in men and machines.

These men complain that there is an inclination, both in official communications in Washington and in some dispatches from London, to put the emphasis on the losses inflicted on the enemy and to neglect our own losses. Too many of the folks at home think "it's a picnic or walk-over" as some of them put it.

We should face the reality that the Allied air forces are engaged in a tough fight against terrific opposition. Present indications are that we are winning, but there is no room for complacency about the cost of the victory.

MAN-SIZE JOB

Those who press impatiently for a land invasion of the continent must comprehend that this great air battle is the indispensable preliminary. It is not an easy or comfortable substitute for invasion but a most difficult and expensive preparation. Experience from Dunkirk to Anzio has left no doubt that the Luftwaffe must be knocked out before the major invasion effort is undertaken. That's a man-size job and its achievement now being attempted, ought to be reported and comprehended without illustration.

To grasp the magnitude of the undertaking, let us look at a single week for which we have fairly complete, though somewhat contradictory reports: the week of February 26th through February 28th. An Associated Press summary states that Allied airmen knocked down 64 enemy planes. Our losses, it appears from another source, were 38 bombers and 27 fighters, a total of 65 aircraft.

Superficially this sounds most satisfactory. The "box score" seems encouraging. The optimistic angle is highlighted in some reports by reference to the fact that during the heaviest week of the Battle of Britain the Germans lost only 491 planes, compared with the 64 of their aircraft accounted for in their own skies this week.

But a closer analysis discloses that the picture is a lot more grim than surface appearances indicate. To begin with, our official statistics indicate only the losses over German-held territory—the losses, that is to say, which the enemy knows anyhow. There are always additional losses, over the Channel, the North Sea, or at other points beyond the German lines. More important, numbers tell only a small part of the story. We cannot check off bombers weighing fifty or six thousand pounds against fighters weighing one-fifth as much, or bomber crews of 10 men against fighter crews of one or at most two men.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Every game has its own code and customs, and it is interesting to note how they vary. At a prize fight or baseball game, the fans shout and scream. At a tennis match the crowd is quiet. When a fine play is made there is only a light hand applause.

Bridge, too, has its traditional customs and ethics which are most important. If you hesitate when you hold a singleton, you would be called unethical. When dealer leads a queen up to dummy's ace, if you give the impression by hesitating that you have the king, then play a low card and your partner turns up with the king, you would be branded as unethical. When you have a problem, you are justified in hesitating, but even then your partner must not take advantage of your hesitation.

In today's hand, when West made the pre-emptive three-club bid over one club, North had a terrific problem. Should he bid for partner's moods, and perhaps find himself in a contract he could not make? If North passed after a long study, South ethically would be bound to pass because he would not have sufficient strength in his own hand to go to three or trump. When North, after his hesitation, finally doubled three spades, South was justified in going to three or trump, which he had no trouble in making, especially with the spade opening.

over, were inflicted by relatively few R.A.F. defending aircraft, whereas those of February required a great armada of Allied aircraft.

All of which should help drive home the fact that we are engaged in a tremendous battle involving tremendous losses. These are fully justified by the crucial importance of the objective—the demolition of the Luftwaffe on the ground and in the air. A New York Times dispatch filed on February 27th quoted an official of the U.S. Strategic Air Forces as guessing that 75 per cent of German bomber production and 60 per cent of the output capacity of German air transport has been destroyed. Even if this guess should be half true, the disparity in planes and men sacrificed is amply explained and justified.

Many Recruits Required For Naval Service

With Canada well on the way to becoming one of the world's great naval powers, and new fighting ships sliding down the ways at a half dozen yards every month, more and more highly trained men to man these ships and to staff complementary shore establishments are needed.

Lt. Cmdr. J. A. Dawson, commanding officer at H.M.C.S. Non-such, the Edmonton naval establishment, has announced that a new drive for recruits is now in full swing.

Application should be made at once to the recruiting officer at the naval barracks on 102 street in Ross Flats.

IMMEDIATE ACTION

Ordinary seamen and stokers recruited in the present drive will go on active service almost immediately.

Candidates who apply as ordinary seamen must be physically fit, age 17½ to 35, and should have completed intermediate school or have equivalent standing.

Men who enlist as ordinary seamen and who show aptitude and ability may quickly receive opportunity to qualify in gunnery, torpedoes, anti-submarine or wireless telegraphy.

A number of men are required for immediate entry as ordinary seamen in the shore branch. Men who do not meet the regular age or educational requirements will be considered.

Men who are between 17½ and 30 and who are mechanically inclined may be enlisted in the engine room branch as stokers. Men who have had mechanical experience or who hold engineering certificates will be considered for entry as stokers first class.

MANY OTHERS NEEDED

Also required are motor mechanics with two or more years' experience, machine shop and electrical maintenance men, shipwrights and joiners, writers with stenographic and secretarial experience, supply assistants with hardware, grocery, or clothing experience, cooks and assistant cooks, stewards and probationary stewards, men for postal duties, and patrolmen.

Men who are over age or medically unfit for general service in the shore branch may be entered in the shore branch and serve in dockyard repair and maintenance shops.

GLACE BAY, N.S. March 18.—(CP)—The Ryan trophy, awarded annually to the Canadian coal mine with the year's best safety record, has gone for 1943 to the Dominion Coal Company's No. 2 Colliery here. The previous year it was won by the company's No. 25 Colliery at Glace Bay.

Dies at Coast

NANAIMO, B.C. March 18.—(CP)—Raymond Pincoff, 66, for the past seven years secretary of the farmers' market here, died recently. Pincoff, a veteran of the South African war, formerly lived in Toronto, where for 20 years he practiced law. He came to Nanaimo nine years ago.

A great engine doing a great job

AS ALLIED ARMIES push forward their offensives in various parts of the world, Canadian military motor vehicles continue to play an important part in the transport of men and supplies. Along the rim of North Africa they carried a large part of the advancing Eighth Army. Over shell-torn roads and through deep mud, they carried the main weight of the Canadian advance in Italy, and a large proportion of the British Eighth Army's work.

In this gigantic transport undertaking, Ford-built cars, trucks and universal carriers have borne a substantial share of the load. In Canada too, Ford buses have played an important part in solving our wartime transportation problem. The power plant which drives these Ford vehicles on the home front and on the fighting front is the Ford V-8 engine.

At home and abroad, the Ford V-8 Engine is famous for its smooth, surging power and rugged reliability. It is a thrifty engine, economical of gas and oil, and it keeps on eating up the miles with the very minimum of care. In war or in peace, it's a great power plant. Certainly it's the engine you'll want in your post-war car.

The group is scheduled to sail March 23 aboard the Serpapino for the United States port whence the ship will go to Canada by train. ## Major Upheaval Develops In House Before Funds For S.C. Board Approved Condemnation, criticism—commendation, charges, counter-charges and "point of order" all contributed fuel to a major upheaval in the Legislature Friday afternoon, when consideration was undertaken of a vote of $324,000 for the Alberta Social Credit Board expenses in the coming fiscal year.

A bone of contention at every session of the Assembly, the board vote on Friday touched off a verbal warfare of an intensity surpassing any of recent years. One of the leaders in opposition of the Social Credit Board was Elmer E. Roper (C.C.P., Edmonton), leader of the C.C.P. party in Alberta, whose remarks drew pointed retorts from Social Credit members at least nine times in the debate. At one point, Social Credit members called "Tarrow him out!"

VOTE IS PASSED
The board vote was passed after more than three hours discussion. A motion that it be struck out, introduced by George MacLachlan (Ind., Pembina), was declared lost on a vote taken at the end of the debate, which extended over into a night session. An attempt to have a recorded vote over the appropriation was lost.

The Social Credit Board was declared to be a "political organization for propaganda purposes" by opposition members, when debate on its vote got underway. Government and board members denied the charges, pointing out that its purpose was to gather information for the benefit of the public and it was doing educational work.

Early in the discussion, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of education, declared that the board's educational work was a necessity, to offset the "political bunk" which is being taught in political economics at universities and is based on "political trickery, deceit, and lies."

The minister's words were objected to by James C. Mahaffy, K.C. (Ind., Calgary), who described them as "stunning remarks" concerning graduates of the university. Mr. Fallow pointed out that his remarks had been qualified, and that Mr. Mahaffy was "putting words in my mouth."

Mr. MacLachlan started the discussion by saying that if the price was given a free hand, he believed the board would be done away with. He moved the vote be struck out.

REFERENCES TO BY-ELECTION
The minister referred to the Red Deer by-election of last December, and was asked by government members, "What were you doing there?" "I was campaigning," Mr. MacLachlan replied. "I paid all my expenses to the last cent."

R. Earl Ansley (S.C., Leduc), chairman of the Social Credit Board, said all board accounts were scrutinized by him, and no member of the board received any expenses for subsistence or mileage in the by-election campaign.

"They were there at my expense and paid expenses out of their own pockets," he declared. Mr. Ansley said board members at their meetings pointed out matters that were "devotional to democracy," to Christianity, and this was done in a non-partisan way. He recalled that when the board was established, an invitation had been extended to the opposition to have a seat at the board, but this offer was not taken up.

J. J. Bowden (L.C., Calgary) said he did not recall the opposition being asked to take part in the board's activities. "If I had been asked, I would have said that I had nothing to do with it," he added.

"ACT OF DESPERATION"
Mr. Bowden said the board had been established "as an act of desperation," to give some work to leaders of the 1937 "insurgency." He added the board was a "political organization."

Premier Manning then rose, and said the opposition had been too long and time again that the board was a political bureau, were fully answered. However, the statements were repeated after years, the Social Credit Board is set up under authority of an Act of the Legislature, and operates under the terms of the act, the premier stated.

of the department to which he was referring could be singled out, he would have "fought it to the last breath."

Mr. Roper, the next speaker, referred to pointing out that the Social Credit Board, which he said attacked other political organizations. The C.C.P. members called on the government to make a statement in connection with Mr. Fallow's remark that a professor had told an untruth to some students. "I say an explanation is due from the government, that appoints the board of governors and the president," he said.

Mr. Roper became involved in words, fighting with Social Credit members and James Hartley, chairman of the Legislative committee of supply, when he started to read a pamphlet in a Social Credit pamphlet, which he had obtained an address delivered at Rocky House by L. D. Byrne, technical advisor to the board.

The member said the pamphlet contained a statement that "Nazi Germany was a perfect example of the Socialist State."

"That is not the truth, it is the very opposite of the truth," he declared.

Ruled out of order at the height of a clash, Mr. Roper said "there are other places where a statement like this cannot be attempted."

To one ruling by the chairman, Mr. Roper said his objection was not to the $324,000 vote, but to the fact that the Assembly should be asked to vote money to carry on political propaganda of the party in power.

One warm exchange occurred between Mr. Roper and Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary. Withdrawals were demanded by members on both sides of the House at this point.

Hugh John Macdonald, K.C. (L., Edmonton), said he regretted that the university had been brought into the debate. He declared every professor at the university was under the shadow of Mr. Fallow's statement, until the matter was cleared up.

"My statement did not condemn any professor," said the minister. "I referred to some specific course of study at the university."

It was suggested by Mr. Macdonald that Mr. Fallow write to the president of the university, naming the professor who was said to have told an untruth.

A. J. Morrison (Lab., Edson) said that after listening to the long discussion, he was satisfied that the Social Credit Board needed a technical advisor. He said he was glad to note the senator was being paid a decent salary.

The Labor member added that he could not support the Social Credit Board vote, because if board members were only being paid for 1,000 miles out of every $300 that they travelled, the travelling allowance was too meagre.
